MEDIA RELEASE

Hickey Lawyers' Family to Grow

Leading Gold Coast law firm, Hickey Lawyers, has announced it is adding a Family Law offering to its long-established practice.

After excelling in the commercial and property law space throughout its 27-year history, it is a logical progression for the firm to provide a specialist Family Practice, an area of law that complements the firm's existing skill set.

Managing Partner, Mark Lacy said the firm would take an integrated approach to the introduction of the new division.

"Hickey Lawyers has long established relationships with many of our clients and over the years we've been approached by some to handle their family law matters. However, in the past we've had to refer them to our peers," Mr Lacy said.

"There is a natural synergy between property, commercial and family law. Most family law cases involve some sort of property settlement and / or business settlement, so it will be nice to have the ability to cater to all of our clients' needs."

Hickey Lawyers has appointed seasoned family lawyer, Jill Wolff to head up the division, which will offer all areas of Family Law, including divorce and separation, property settlements, parenting matters, prenuptial and binding financial agreements, mediation, and international matters.

With more than six years' experience at a high-profile family law firm on the Gold Coast, Jill is a member of the Gold Coast District Law Association, Family Law Practitioner's Association of Queensland and the Queensland Law Society.

Ms Wolff said she is excited to join Hickey Lawyers and looks forward to growing the Family Law division.

"Over the years, I've worked quite comprehensively with Dan Marino, Owner Partner at Hickey Lawyers on joint client family and property matters and I'm looking forward to combining Hickey Lawyers' extensive expertise with my experience and passion in growing this area of the business," Ms Wolff said.

“There are many areas of family law which can be tough for the client to go through requiring intricate corporate structures and high conflict parenting cases. I like to believe our approach helps them achieve the outcome they deserve without feeling like they are doing it all on their own.”

Established in 1993, Hickey Lawyers has earned a reputation as one of the Gold Coast’s pre-eminent commercial law firms, specialising in property, development, litigation, business and corporate law.
